GET TO KNOW FRISCO'S ROOTS; TAKE A FREE, TREE TOUR

(October 7, 2005) Branch out and learn more about more than thirty species of trees taking root at the City of Frisco's premiere passive park.

Enjoy Frisco's fall foliage by taking a tree identification tour at Frisco Commons Park, 8000 McKinney Road, on Saturday, October 22. The tour begins at 9 a.m. at the park's main pavilion and lasts approximately an hour and a half.

Members of the Urban Forestry Board and the city's Parks division will lead the free tour, which is hosted by the Urban Forestry Board.
